Saw this game on indie gala

Thought it had trading cards so i install

Sees it has no cards

Quits

Game changed the resolution of my screen

Go to control panel and fix it

8/8 would go to control panel again. is this empire? lol. Very cool game. Really worth to play. Recomend. childhood favorite.

Really fun game playing alone. can't wait to play with others im sure it would be hilarious! The controls are odd but that just adds to the hilarity!. this game is thee best gaeme everrrr\, I used to play this back in 2007. and now I see that it's on Steam. Atulos Online is a fun experience with an amazing lifetime premiere edition that will never be revoked. The game has been maintained since 2007 and has overall made good progress since then from what I see.

Colony On Mars appears to be a retro pixel colony building game a bit like M.U.L.E. but really it's just Russian shovelware. The developers went about 5% of the way towards making a game, dumped it on Steam and ran.

There's only a couple of building types, you just wait until you have resources and drop them down anywhere, placement doesn't really matter. There's less gameplay than a clicker or Farmville. While the concept had potential, it's pretty clear this is just Steam abuse to try scrape some cash from bundles.. relaxing game

+ lots of levels

+ easy. Great little game. Perfect if it's on sale and you like puzzle games. Really easy so don't expect a challenge but that's not really the point of the experience.. OMG! If this has any of the qualities of the original two games, it's gonna be awesome. I prob should really have played the game before writing this, but im too excited that they released a updated Cannon Fodder!

All we need now, is releases like Moonstone, IK+, Chaos Engine, Xenon etc... Now that would be fantastic.

My recomendation, buy this and give it a shot, its not to pricey and i think we'll all be surprised.. its assassin's creed unity that is all. First time playing the railroad building, economic board game and loving it. Tutorial was short and easy to grasp. A couple playthroughs should help you with the mechanics and get a grasp of the game. Only have played A.I, which are challenging enough for me as noob, but probably a lot easier for veteran players. At the moment, the online player base is slim so wanting to play against real people, "good luck."

Have had a bug issue a couple times of wanting to change my mind and dragged the railroad track back to the supply which froze the game. To avoid this, I recommend hitting the "undo" button instead. Hopefully devs fix this issue soon. Also to note when rotating track pieces, use arrow keys instead of using your mouse; the mouse makes rotation more fiddly.

As for players complaining that the base game only comes with two maps and the dlc maps are too expensive, there seems to be a lot of meat to this game already for a decent asking price. Real board games are not cheap and are a niche market so I see this game as a bargain.

Just need the bugs fixed and hopefully more train enthusiasts. Choo Choo.. Ok so even though i have not recommended this game it has endless potential when its released final but here are a few main issues currently that need looking at.

1: Resource system

This is totally broken from the 1 item per carry or 1 plank per 1 log this totally needs revamping to a Banished/Life is fuedal style resource management. After running a few playthrough have been having same issue with after year 2 i have completely run out of Logs or Stone which ever city i have, I get they are trying to bring the expansion cities into play but you either need a few things to make this work. Make resources have more volume IE: More starting or more sourced when you cut a tree or mine. Or tree's need to be regrown this is essential as after a 3year you will have completely resourced your initial starting village and depending on when you expanded are halfway through a raidus on your next only option then is to Import which gets pricey.

2: City Radius/Map Seed

This needs another revamp city radius beginning is too small if you want to mine half the map wont even cover a forest area therefore the need to start by grass is essential and then eventually move into a mining area with the map seed. Either need 2 things unlimited range or larger range as you completely run out of space on your initial city after year 2, essentially killing your game again by year 2, no progression where as a game like Banished which i compare to this I could rack up 100+ years on a map and this only get to 2 and restart.

3: Workshop

Please please please allow modding if you do not which iv heard rumours you wont support this is a big no to any survival/city builder. No other info needed...

4: More Buildings

Whether this be in the form of houses or in general smaller farms more storage options the only numerous option for a building type seems to be mines and these are completely redundant after awhile as a small mine works just as good with the 1 resource per worker rule than a larger mine as you cannot ship or use these resources unless you have a whole city focused solely on mining.

5: Numerous other things but no-1 reads this far.... This game is just way too hard for me...I don't know, too easy to crash in to sth! If you like challenging retro shmups then you might like this....

After a while I came back to this game and I found once you get past the first stage, it's a cool game. I changed my mind. Thumbs up. Would be one of the best Spacie shoot-em-ups on the Megadrive.
